FIVE MINERS DIE IN MINE BLAZE

CITY COUNCIL COMMITTEES NAMED

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Some time this week, George Abshier and Howard Royston, former residents of Richmond, will die on the gallows of the Colorado State prison at Canon City for the part they played in the robbery of the Lamar bank and the slaying of the bank president and its cashier.

* * * *

Ralph Fleagle, gray - haired leader of the bandits, has already paid his debt to society on the gallows.

* * * *

Little Jake Fleagle, brother of Ralph, is still being hunted —perhaps he never will be apprehended. And then again he may be.

* * * *

In spite of what reformers may say, America's crime conditions may be laid to several things.

* * * *

The main cause for so many crimes in this country is the fact that a majority of felons are not punished.

* * * *

Thousands of slayers are still at large. Others see these men "get away with it" and they do the same thing.

* * * *

One cannot blame the police for not trying to apprehend some criminals.

* * * *

As soon as they are arrested, some shyster lawyer finds a loophole in the law and his client is freed.

* * * *

And America makes no attempt to take care of its youthful criminals.

* * * *

Political pull and mushy sentiment has saved more than one youth from prison where he rightfully belongs.

* * * *

"Give the boy another chance" parents plead of the judge.

* * * *

And the youth is freed — only to repeat his crime.

* * * *

The situation in Chicago is a national disgrace. But what can be done about it?

* * * *

As long as cities employ policemen at salaries that are far below those of other workers — you are going to find graft and corruption.

* * * *

A lot has been said about the whole situation. And all agree that "something" ought to be done about it.

* * * *

But, so far, nothing has.

MACDONALD TO RETURN

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—UP—Governor C. C. Young tonight took steps to return John MacDonald, self confessed perjurer in the famous Tom Mooney - Warren Billings cases, to California.

LOS ANGELES, July 12. —UP —Governor C. C. Young of California told the United Press tonight that the finding of John MacDonald in Baltimore, may be "an opportunity to get the truth of the Preparedness Day bombing" in San Francisco in 1910 in which ten men were killed.

MacDonald, a principal witness against Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings, convicted of the crime, repudiated his testimony by affidavit in 1921, and now will come to California and repudiate his trial testimony at a public hearing.

Interviewed tonight by the United Press, Governor Young said that an open hearing would be held after the Mooney Defense League brings MacDonald to California, but he saw no hope for immediate disposal of the cases, which have been matters of political controversy in California for a dozen years.

"I don't know just how to bring him (MacDonald) out here" the governor said, which supported a previous suggestion that friends of Mooney and Billings arrange the trip — as apparently will be done.

No Contest

Although he would not discuss it in the interview, it is known that Governor Young objects to making the cases an issue in the

C. C. COUNTY GOVERNMENT COST GROWS

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—The trend of the cost of government in Contra Costa county during the past five years is indicated by the increase of 46 cents in inside and 48 cents in outside county tax rates during this period, according to a study of county tax rates recently completed by California Tarpayers' association. The tax rate for the fiscal year 1924 according to the association was $1.57 per $10 of assessed valuation inside and $1.98 per $100 of assessed valuation outside of the incorporated areas of the county. City Attorney T. M. Carlson told the council that at the time the ordinance was adopted, he informed the dealers that if the law was attacked it would not hold, as he did not think it was constitutional.

He stated it was impossible to enforce the measure, but that it was adopted at the request of the auto dealers.

Finally the matter was laid over for a week for the dealers to hold a meeting, and decide what action they wished to have taken.

FIRE SWEEPS HILL NEAR SHAFT

COLFAX, July 14.—UP—The bodies of five miners who were trapped by a fire in the Glenn Placer mine were recovered from the tunnel in which they had been working tonight, according to a meager message received here from the mine.

All the men had been killed by gas fumes and stifling heat of the blaze, it was said.

As soon as the bodies had been taken out all the rescue workers started to battle a serious forest fire which had been started by the conflagration in the mine shaft. The forest fire was said to have destroyed all the mine buildings and to have completely surrounded the mine.

The Glena placer mine is approximately half way between here and Placerville in a country so rugged that the airplanes could not land. It is 20 miles from Forest Hill near the American river.

Flames from the mine fire spread to the adjoining woods and started the disastrous forest fire. The main object of the fire fighters seemed to be to quell the blaze along the road so that volunteer relief workers could reach the mine from Grass Valley, Placerville, Colfax and Sacramento.

ODD FELLOWS BEAT ELKS NINE

Another victory was collected by the Richmond Odd Fellows Sunday afternoon when they trounced the local Elks by a score of 8 to 2.

Although playing hard, fast baseball all the way through, the Elks were no match for their heavy hitting opponents.

The linkers were on a great hitting spree last week-end, nicking the Elks for 12 hits. Murphy, right fielder for the victors, whammed the agate over the fence to add considerably to his team's total at a critical moment. Matteri, Gordon, Viano and C. Pinto also contributed to the Odd Fellows victory by collecting two baggers.

However, the hitting was by no means reserved to the linkers. The Elks garnered 10 hits, but they were well scattered and did little real damage. Two double baggers were earned for the Elks by Bartola, while Carson, Banducci, and Peacock each collected one bit of this variety.

Carl Kamb occupied the mound in fine style for the winning outfit Sunday, allowing 10 hits and sending 11 Elks back to the bench. Pat O'Rourke started chucking for the losers, but was soon batted off the mound. Johnny Huzefka then went into the box, but was also severely bombarded by the Odd Fellows hickory wielders. Yet Johnny did fairly well at the chucking job, whiffing 10 opposing lodgemen.

The victorious Odd Fellows will tangle next with the Oakland Monarchs next Sunday afternoon at the Monarch ball park at Twenty-fourth and Wood streets, Oakland. They will play a double header. The first contest will start at 1:30 o'clock. Kamb or Babich will twirl for the locals, with either Rosano or Gualdoni behind the plate. The Oakland batteries will probably be Stout and Richards and Elliott and Beasley.

Bobby Jones Saves London Bell Hop Job

LONDON, July 14. — When R T. "Bobby" Jones, left London on his return to the United States, among the many people who saw him off at Waterloo station was Albert Eric Carpenter, a bell hop at the Hotel Savoy, where Jones stopped in London, aged 15 years height 4 feet, 6 1-4 inches.

Albert Eric's height is important; a few days ago his height was going to lose him his job.

Telling a friend the story of it just before the boat-train left, Bobby Jones explained that when he arrived at the Savoy two months ago, Carpenter was appointed as his own personal bell boy. Two or three days afterward, Albert Eric plaintively let Bobby know that it was his last day—at the monthly height examination which maturing bell hops at the Savoy have to undergo — Albert Eric had just succeeded in passing the 4 feet 6 inches mark, in spite of having shaved the soles of his boots beforehand. One of the immovable laws of the hotel is that no bell boy must be over 4 feet, 6 inches in height.

Albert then went on with the tale.

It appears that Bobby had found him a good bellboy and felt sorry for Albert and his growing pains. He had a word with the hotel's general manager and suggested that instead of bellhopping Albert Eric would make a good caddy with a little training. He might even be reserved exclusively for the hotel's golfing guests — to look after their clubs and so on. Also, he could grow as much as he wanted to. Bobby himself promised to take him out for the last three days that remained to him.

So the end of the story was that when Albert went to Waterloo station he wore, not the trig uniform of a Savoy page, but a new livery of grey plus fours and a blue jacket, with the insignia of his new office embroidered on it. He says he is the world's first hotel golf caddie — in London, at any rate.

Primo's Mother Tells Of His Huge Appetite

ROME.—"I am afraid they will kill him between them," said Signora Giovanni Carnera, mother of the giant Italian boxer Primo Carnera in an interview given to a correspondent of a Rome newspaper. She was interviewed at her home in Sequals, in the north Italian province of Udine, when speaking of her famous son and his boxing opponents.

Signora Carnera related several anecdotes about Primo and gave a brief story of his early life.

The boxer weighed 12 pounds when he was born, and before he was three years old he turned the scale at 30 pounds.

"He always had a terrible appetite," said Signora Carnera, "and in those days when he was a lad, we were very badly off. Our house passed under Austrian occupation during the war, and life was extremely difficult for us.

"If we sent Primo to the baker to get the family's bread, it was a certain thing that the great hungry boy would help himself to a loaf or two while bringing it home. Nor could we blame him, for we were all under-nourished in that terrible time."

Signora Carnera then related how Primo emigrated to France, joining a traveling show as weight-lifter and wrestler. The circus failed and Primo found himself without a job.

It was then that the Frenchman Monsieur Lungau offered him work in his carpenter's shop.

Touching the question of Primo's French naturalization Mrs. Carnera stated that this was one of the most painful episodes of her life.

The Carnera family is an old established one in the Friuli district, much respected and looked up to by the inhabitants of the village of Sequals.

ROAD CONGRESS TO AID PAN-AMERICAN HIGHWAY

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 14.—Material impetus to the construction of the Pan American highday is expected to result from the deliberations of the Sixth International Road congress in Washington October 6 to 11, at which, in addition to countries from other parts of the world, virtually every Latin American country is to be represented, according to an announcement by Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States Department of Public Roads and secretary-general of the American Organizing Commission of the congress.

Already nine of the twenty Latin American countries that are members of the Pan American Union, have announced officially they will be represented by special delegations. Only one country —Nicaragua — has definitely declined.

Ever since it has been known that the congress would hold its sixth session in the United States those in touch with the situation have had in mind the aim of making the congress appeal especially to countries of the western hemisphere. The first step in this direction was to make Spanish one of the official languages of the congress, and as a result reports and other matters printed for the delegates, are being prepared in Spanish, French, German and English. This care to make the congress of particular interest to the Latin Americans is most recently reflected in the selection of the seven reporters of the congress, the men who will present the various queotions upon which deliberations will turn.

Needs Studied

Careful examination of the list of reporters reveals the fact that most of them, in the course of their duties, have become acquainted with highway and traffic problems in Latin America. In addition to being leaders in the subject assigned them, it is found they have devoted careful study to highway needs and problems in Latin America. Several have made first hand studies of conditions there while on more or less prolonged visits. As a result, it is expected that the reports and discussions will contain much that will be of advantage to delegates from Latin American countries.

The reporters, Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer for Illinois, and E. W. James, chief, division of highway economics, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, have made themselves familiar with the conditions in South and Central America by visiting the countries and are well known in highway circles throughout the western world. Row W. Crum, director, Highway Research Board, Washington, and Dr. Henry R. Trumbower, professor of economics of the University of Wisconsin, are thoroughly conversant with conditions in Latin America, and for a number of years their work has brought them in direct contact with leading officials and public men from those countries.

The three other reporters are men widely recognized as singularly well equipped to handle reports of the congress. They are Col. A. B. Barber, director of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety and manager of the transportation and communication department, Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Dr. Miller McClintock, director, Albert Russel Erskine Bureau for Street Traffic Research, Harvard University; and P. J. Freeman, chief engineer of the Bureau of Tests and Specifications, Department of Public Works, Alleghany County, Pennsylvania.

Nine Countries

The nine Latin American countries that have officially accepted invitations to the road congress are: Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, Ecuador, El Calvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Panama and Venezuela. Others from which acceptances seem assured are Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Mexico, Peru and Uruguay. It is also expected that Bolivia, Haiti, and Paraguay will be represented, either by government delegates or private individuals who are members of the Permanent International Association of Road Congresses, and who will represent business and scientific organizations.

The American Organizing commission, which is making all arrangements for the congress, has announced that all papers which were to have been submitted from the different countries have been received. There is a total of sixty-nine such papers, treating on the different subjects to be discussed. These are now being translated and printed in the four official languages. When ready, they will be sent to all intending to participate in the congress.

The sole qualification for participation, according to secretary-general MacDonald, is membership in the Permanent International Association of Road Congresses. To this association belong governments, scientific bodies, business firms, automobile clubs and similar organizations, and private individuals, such as engineers, street and highway contractors, and university and college professors.

Approximately 60 governments are members of the association, and it is expected that more than 50 of these will be represented by official delegations. In addition, the various groups and individuals holding membership in the association throughout the world will be well represented, according to MacDonald.

Moitoza Fords Defeat Oakland Baseball Team

The newly organized Moitoza Fords started off its 1930 season Sunday afternoon by taking the Fern Candy nine of Oakland into camp with a score of 3 to 2.

An extra tenth inning was resuired to end the battle in favor of the local nine.

The Fords presented a snappy showing at their first appearance in public in more than two years. Their hitting was the main factor in the capture of Sunday's victory. Martin reached bag number two on a hard, long hit, while Cola and Andreade performed well at the plate, each making good two out of three chances at bat.

However, hard hitting on the part of two Oaklanders almost undid the Moitoza Garagemen. Moore of the Fern outfit smashed the ball out of the lot, while F. Stronberg, also of Oakland, connected with a triple.

Martin, chucking for Richmond, kept the Fern Candy hitters making bad guesses during the greater part of the contest. He earned seven strike outs, and allowed but five hits.

Duncan, twirling for the Oakland team, was nicked for nine hits and fanned nine local boys.

The Moitoza Fords will play their next game of the newly inaugurated season next Sunday at San Pablo park against an Oakland team not yet named.

The line score:

| | R | H | E |
|---|---|---|---|
| Moitoza Fords | 3 | 9 | 1 |
| Fern Candy Co. | 2 | 5 | 1 |

Batteries—Martin and A. Moitoza Duncan and Howard.

M. W. A. TEAM DEFEATED BY BERKELEY

The baseball aggregation of the Richmond Modern Woodmen went down to a 15 to 8 defeat before the Berkeley Woodmen Sunday at First street.

This defeat was the first loss to be suffered by the local Woodmen, and came as a big surprise to supporters of the local organization. Richmond has been handing defeats by large scores to many nines of the bay region, and the Berkeley outfit was considered fairly easy opposition.

But the Berkeleyans proved to be tougher than they looked. They collected 21 hits, and allowed but one error during the contest.

The local athletes also performed nicely at the plate, earning 16 bingles, but eight errors spelled their defeat.

Bono and Hansen alternated in the box for Richmond, earning 12 strikeouts between them. Crocker received for the locals.

A chucker who also went by the name of Hanson threw for the visitors, allowing 16 hits and earning eight strike-outs. Corey performed behind the home platter.

Line score:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Richmond | 8 | 16 | 8 |
| Berkeley | 15 | 21 | 1 |

Batteries: Hanson and Corey; Bono, and Crocker.

Mrs. Moody Returns Home

Dempsey Will Referee Bout

SPOKANE, Wash., July 14.—UP—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion will referee a bout here July 23 between Tod Morgan and Don Fraser. Morgan was formerly junior welterweight champion of the world.

Behold the stranger!

A STRANGER moves to your neighborhood. You observe him tolerantly, but with no immediate display of interest. You are an established resident, getting along very nicely before he came.

But you do not avoid him. For reasons not entirely unselfish you wait for him to reveal himself. Possibly he may add something to your social and business life. Possibly he will take a highly respected place in the community. He may even become one of your intimates. It is up to him.

So you note his manners, talk with him, and form an opinion. If he comes up to your requirements, you accept him, and often he proves a welcome addition to your group of friends.

It is with exactly the same attitude that the intelligent newspaper reader regards the advertisements of products new to him. These strangers may add something to his civilized enjoyment. They may contribute to his comfort, safety — even to his success. In many ways they may prove valuable. Certainly it is wise to give them careful consideration.

Read the advertisements in the daily newspapers. They may be the means of introducing you to products that will take important places in your life. And every day they will give you information that enables you to buy intelligently and make your money go farther.

The wedding took place Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the church profusely decorated with ferns and gladiolius.

Vocal solos were presented by Miss Martha Brockington of Piedmont, who sang, "Because I Love You" and "I Love You Truly" with Prof. Edgar A. Thorpe of Oakland at the organ. The bridal procession entered to the organ strains of the wedding march.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation
Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver disgorge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills.
What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantlax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid, lazy liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, sallow skin, sour stomach, gas, bilious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble.
Plantlax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants — Nature's own remedies—that act in a mild, easy way without weakening or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. Large bottle $1 at any good drug store.

RESERVATIONS TO TREATY ACCEPTED

WASHINGTON, July 14.—UP—The Hoover administration has decided to accept a modified anti-secrecy reservation to the London naval treaty.

Adoption of the Norris resolution is virtually certain. Its author, Sen. Norris, Rep., Neb., will modify it along lines worked out by young guard Republicans with President Hoover and Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee today.

Hoover who heretofore has opposed all reservations is understood to have changed his position after a conference with Borah today. Strenuous opposition will be put up to the half dozen or more reservations which anti-treaty senators are expected to propose however.

Secretary Stimson and Senator Reed, Rep., Penn. discussed the proposal with Hoover tonight, and Reed, who has previously opposed the Norris resolution, said he believed it would be accepted if the preamble is eliminated.

It was the first time Hoover has taken up the matter with Borah in recent weeks, most of his treaty dealings heretofore having been with the young guard Republican leaders.

BORDER LEGION NOW AT THE FOX

Zane Grey's thrilling, romatic West is brought vividly to the all-talking screen in Paramount's latest gripping drama of the outdoors "The Border Legion" which will show at the Fox-California theater, starting today for two days. Richard Arlen is the hero of the story; Fay Wray is the heroine and Jack Holt, that beloved portrayer of Zane Grey Western roles, is his own swaggering, handsome self as the leader of the daring robber band.

Arlen has the role of Jim Cleve, a young cowboy who, through the operation of frontier justice, is forced to become a member of Jack Holt's ruthless group of desperadoes. Arlen is making a new name for himself in these popular roles. As the hero of "The Light of Western Stars" and the pathetic Steve of "The Virginian" Arlen gave his best characterizations on the screen. In "The Border Legion" he has a stronger role.

Holt, star of 'Submarine,' 'Flight' and a member of other recent all-talking productions, won much of his screen fame in Zane Grey roles. Of the twenty-four Zane Grey stories filmed by Paramount, Holt played roles in eleven. He has a villain part in "The Border Legion," but he is a swaggering, masterful villain who wins audience sympathy. It is reported to be one of his finest characterizations.

Fay Wray has the only important woman role in the story. The plot, set in the riotous gold-rush days in California, is a man-plot, a story of virile and stirring action, into which Miss Wray introduces a glowing touch of love and romance. This romantic theme, cast against the glamorous background of primitive men, is emphasized with colorful tenderness.

"The Border Legion" is alive with thrills, action, suspense, daring, courage, romance. Otto Brower and Edwin H. Knopf directed the picture, and filming was done in the beautiful natural backgrounds of the California high Sierras, where many spectacular scenes were made.

Talking comedy "Down With Husbands."

Policemen Of St. Louis Will Be Very Polite

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—UP— The St. Louis police will be models of courtesy, and receiving a summons ticket will become a pleasure if they follow the instructions laid down in a recent issue of the department's publication, The Police Journal.

"Questions are usually the basis of argument," the article states, in warning officers not to begin their remarks to the prospective customer with the traditional: "Hey you, why didja pass that boulevard stop signal? Where's ta' fire?"

Instead the motorist is to be greeted with "I'm sorry, but you passed up that boulevard stop signal" or "You have been driving 40 miles an hour and the speed limit is only 30, and I am compelled to arrest you," according to the magazine.

Addressed in this wise, the officer "does not excite an argument from the citizen so addressed because he has merely made a simple statement of facts which cannot, in a great majority of instances be controverted."

Free State Cuts Army

DUBLIN.—The Irish Free State has followed the world wide trend toward disarmament by sharply reducing its armed forces.

About 200 noncommissioned officers have been discharged or transferred to the reserve. The budget for 1930 provided for 1,248 non-commissioned officers, a cut of 117.

In addition, certain battalions which were under-strength have been disbanded or merged into other battalions.

The cuts were prompted largely by economic reasons.

MAN MURDERS WOMAN, KILLS SELF

North Richmond is today settling back into its regular line of activity following a murder and suicide, which threw the community into a frenzy of excitement, yesterday.

Alta Silva, 30, cook with a hay bailing outfit, is the murdered woman, slain by a gun wielded by her sweetheart, Lawrence Alves, 48, of Martinez, who, after killing the woman he loved, turned the gun on himself and died shortly after.

Date for an inquest into the deaths has not yet been set by Coroner Aubrey Wilson. Funeral arrangements are pending in the hands of Wilson & Kratzer.

According to police theories, the murder was the aftermath of a lovers' quarrel, which took place at the ranch of Mrs. Rosa A. Ferreria, 1049 Twenty-third street.

George Martin, of Martinez, told police that Sunday he and Alves attended the Holy Ghost celebration in Pinole, where they saw Alves' sweetheart with another man. According to Martin, Alves became very enraged, and told Martin he was coming to Richmond yesterday to "settle the whole affair."

The dead woman is the divorced wife of John Davilla, of Martinez, and mother of two sons, George, 11 and Gene, 8. After the divorce, she resumed her maiden name of Alta Silva, and has been employed with the hay baling outfit of Joe Rose of Pinole. The hay baler recently moved to the Ferreria ranch, the woman living just back of the ranch house owned by Mrs. Ferreria.

Mrs. Ferreria told police that at 8:30 yesterday morning she saw Mrs. Davilla at the cook house, but saw no one else there. About a half an hour later, she said, she heard shots and rushed to the back yard, where she found Mrs. Davilla lying in the door of the cook house, and Alves lying on the ground.

A pistol was on the ground near the man.

Mrs. Ferreria immediately called the police, who arrived in a few minutes, accompanied by Coroner Wilson.

The woman was dead, but the man was still alive. He died a short time later at Hospital Richmond.

Four shots had been fired from the gun, investigation revealed, two of which had entered the woman's head. Alves had been shot once in the temple, the fourth shot going wild.

NO TRACE OF FLIER IS FOUND

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 15.—(Tuesday) No trace had been found early today of Frank Goldsborough, youthful holder of the junior trans-continental flight record, believed trapped, perhaps badly injured, in the wreckage of his plane in the vicinity of Sucker Pond near here. The posses of over 200 persons which had searched the heavily wooded section throughout last evening returned here shortly after midnight.

Lack of proper light hampered the search members of the posse said and little actual'y can be accomplished before daylight.

At that time the searchers will set out again. A few men remained in the woods and a huge bonfire was kept burning all night in case Goldsborough should have freed himself from the plane and was ab'e to walk.

Goldsborough, according to Donald Mockler, who was accompanying the flier, from Cleveland, O., to Kenne, N. H., was buried in the wreckage and was unconscious when he started out in search of aid shortly after the crash.

Mockler, injured slighty in the accident, wandered for several hours through the woods seeking assistance. He first came to a farm house on the outskirts of this city and was directed to the village where he reported the accident to the police chief.

Apollo Soucek, United States Navy, on his recent flight establishing a new world's record for all types of plane. Lieut. Soucek pushed this gallant little ship to 43,166 feet, the greatest height ever reached by man. He had previously established a world record for seaplanes with it. The other photo shows Lieut. Soucek, in flying suit, being congratulated by Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aviation David S. Ingalls as he alights from the plane in which he made the flight.

Business At Butte Tied Up By Strike

BUTTE, Mont., July 14.—UP—Business virtually was at a standstill in Butte tonight as striking union teamsters, clerks, and machinists on the one hand, and employers, on the other, began a campaign of "watchful waiting."

Large white placards were displayed on nearly all retail and wholesale establishments reading "This store closed by order of the Silver Bow Employer's association."

Supplies could not be purchased except from neighborhood grocers and a few independent merchants who are not members of the county employer's group.

The only stores opened downtown were drug establishments and business at those was limited to filling doctors prescriptions.

How long the situation can last was problematical. Neither side showed any signs of altering its course.

The strike resulted from the refusal of machinists and teamsters to accept a wage cut, which employers said was necessary to bring conditions to the so-called "normal" level of 1928.

The reduction amounted to a decrease of 25 to 50 cents a day for machinists and $1 a day for teamsters.

FINANCIER SHOT TO DEATH IN L. A. COURT

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—UP—Motley H. Flint, long a leader in southern California finance, was shot to death today by Frank D. Keaton, middle aged real estate broker, who selected a superior courtroom as the setting for the killing.

Three shots from Keaton's 38-caliber revolver struck the banker as he walked from the witness stand smiling and greeting Mrs. Louis Selznick, a friend.

"Why, how do you do, Mrs. Selznick, I am very glad to see you," were the last words Flint was heard to say.

Keaton was sitting in the second row of spectators. He was directly behind Mrs. Selznick and had a straight line of fire to Flint who was about 10 feet from his assailant.

The first shot struck Flint in the throat and two more struck him in the body as he fell forward almost at the feet of Mrs. Selznick, who collapsed. Flint did not struggle after the first shot struck him. Physicians said he died instantly.

"Oh, my God,. Oh my, God," Keaton mumbled. Then he threw the smoking revolver on Flints' body and slumped back into his seat.

Judge Frank C. Collier, in whose courtroom the shooting occurred, was the first to reach Keaton. He placed the man under arrest and two bailiffs snapped handcuffs on his wrists. Keaton offered no resistance. His hair was dishevelled and he continually wrung his hands and muttered incoherent words.

Mania Seen

Keaton told police detectives that he unearthed a 20 year old gun from a trunk in the attic of his home in Inglewood when he decided to kill the financier.

He spoke of losing $4,600,000 in a bank stock investment Flint advised him to make seven years ago.

Police said that Keaton apparently had devolved some sort of a mania concerning the $100,000,000 Julian Petroleum collapse and held that Flint was responsible for part of the losses to thousands of investors.

Book Found

A pamphlet on the Julian case written by Rev. R. P. Shuler radio broadcasting minister, was found in his pocket. The pamphlet was entitled: "Julian Thieves in Politics."

The wife of the slayer was informed of the shooting shortly after Keaton was arrested. She told police Keaton had lost considerable money in bank and stock investments and that the finances of the family were so bad she had been forced to take in washings to support two small daughters.

When you change your furnace to burn Natural Gas

You'll say "Goodbye" to this forever

"We start and stop our furnace with this tiny trigger. The Thermostat automatically keeps our home at a perfect temperature."

You'll have clean, automatic heating

The Thermostat control gives you the most economical heating cost. It is the only way to properly heat your home.

Natural Gas cuts the former cost of gas heating as much as 53%. As a result, it will cost you LESS to use Natural Gas than any other fuel—besides you'll have care-free heating.

To change your furnace to burn Natural Gas is easy and very inexpensive. We merely install the Occidental Conversion Burner in the firebox. We mount a Thermostat on the wall of your living-room.

Then you enjoy a new feeling of cleanliness. Your curtains, wall-paper, and upholstery retain their fresh cleanliness. For there is no dirt and soot.

And it is perfectly safe and healthful to use Natural Gas. The burnt gases go outdoors through the chimney, just as the smoke does from your present fire. The healthful, warm air which heats your home does not come in contact with the burning gas. The air passes around the hot outsides of the iron firebox.

Before we install a Conversion Burner, we inspect your furnace to make certain that there are no cracks in the firebox or worn out parts that will interfere with proper operation.

Sales exceed 4,500

Since the first of the year, we have sold over 4,500 Conversion Burners. The people are entirely pleased with their clean, automatic heating.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

"One-Hour Work Week Certain"—But NOT For Women!

EVERY woman who is trying to-day to get rested from the week end Fourth of July——
Which probably was anything but a holiday for her, if she is wife, mother and home-maker in a servantless home,
And if, as a consequence, she has been entertaining a houseful of company,
Cooking extra-elaborate holiday meals and washing extra dishes,
Giving first aid to the children's Fourth of July casualties——
(Try and keep bootleg firecrackers from them—try and do it!)——
Besides performing her usual routine duties,
That begin before the rest of the family wakes up
And end after most of the family has gone to bed——
(Takes a long breath, here—but, really, her life is as breathless as this sentence!)——
Every such woman, and she exists by the ten thousand in America,
Can get a great laugh
Out of the following item which we have found in the news:

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

"One-Hour Work Week Certain," is the headline,
J. E. Morgan, editor of the Journal of the National Education Association, says the prospect "is no fantastic dream.
"With machines and combinations replacing men at a rapid rate," he explains,
"It is reasonable to assume
"The working week will be shortened to one hour."
Mr. Morgan is so sure of the coming of the one-hour work week
That he's only worried about how we'll all make use of our leisure.
It's a menace, that's what he thinks.
And unless early corrective measures are taken
The race will be destroyed through dissipation and degradation.
As we said, here's where the wife, mother, home-maker without a servant
Can only ejaculate a shrill "Tee-hee!"
She can just imagine "machines and combinations" replacing her and her women friends
At the job of feeding the baby, for example,
Or getting the children off to school in the morning,
Or keeping the house clean,
Or buying, cooking, serving wholesome and appetizing meals on a household allowance that's too small.
Yes, this woman can visualize her working week for her family
Shortened to one hour—yes, she can!
But here's an idea for Mr. Morgan
Which we are sure every hard-worked American home-maker will indorse:
If that one-hour work week comes for men,
And if, as a consequence, they are menaced by too much leisure,
So that the race is in danger of being destroyed by dissipation and degradation——
All this tragedy can be avoided!
Men's leisure can be used to good purpose.
Dissipation and degradation can be banished——
If the men are all compelled to set to work
To help the women in their homes and with their children!
Even then, there won't be any one-hour work week for anybody,
But there might be enough leisure to go around for both sexes!

HOW ONE MOTHER MANAGES

THE WOMAN OF IT: I read your account of how the Home Making Centre budgets the cost of children, and I'll be blessed if I know where these club women get their notions of this $60 per week, plus $700 per year extra, for one baby. Talk like this is one reason why young couples to-day are denying themselves the joys of a family. Drat these know-it-alls!

My lord (but not my master) earns the munificent sum of $45 per week. Out of that I save approximately $150 per year, pay $55 per month rent, send $10 per month to Jack's mother. This year I bought an electric radio, also a bedroom suite for $300 (and paid for it, too—no "dollar down"). And we have two darling girls of three and four and a half. Their teeth are kept right, and we've taken them to the doctor for pneumonia, croup, sun rays, vaccines, &c. We haven't been overly lucky.

We have two weeks' vacation every year. We always dress well and go out to the theatre, supper and dance at least once a month. We get along fine, love each other and ask little more from life.

Do you know what's the matter with these ritzy people? Too much half pound of this and quarter pound of that. Chops cost as much as a roast and only go a third as far. Get one pair of shoes for $7, $8 or $9, instead of two pair for $5 each. Take the old towels, cut them into kiddies' facecloths. Get a bolt of nainsook, make the kiddies' undies—lace can be bought at the five and ten.

If some people thought more of getting value out of money the divorce courts would be cobwebby. There are girls getting along on less than me; I've got a lot to learn. The next time you meet one of these $60-a-week-and-starving-to-death janes, tell her to put it in her hat and save it for a rainy day. Oh, by the way, we carry insurance of $2.50 per week.

ALICE.

SIGNS OF SUMMER

The vermilion lobster
Hangs his head in shame
For I'm more redly brilliant
And far surpass his game.

Lovely frangipanies
Dark and deeply pink
Into pale confusion
'Gainst my arms do sink.

Passion-hued hibiscus
Flowering on the trees
Were ne'er more scarlet
Than my dimpled knees.

EDITH ELSBERG.

LOVE

I thought of love
As a delicate
Curl of blue smoke,
Soaring, bird-like,
Until it touched a star.
I did not know
That smoke grows thin,
And vanishes,
Leaving in its wake
Emptiness.

MARY ANN LEE.

Oh, Go to Bed

By Eliot Kays Stone

"DAD, why is to-day to-day?"
"Why is to-day to-day?"
"Yes, why is to-day Tuesday."
"Why, because it is Tuesday."
"But why do we call it Tuesday?"
"Well, son, the story of that name goes back to our pagan Anglo-Saxon ancestors. Among their deities was 'Tiw,' the Norse god of war, and this day of the week was set aside in his honor. 'Tiwes' was the genitive form of 'Tiw,' and meant 'of Tiw.' 'Daeg' was the Anglo-Saxon for 'day,' so they called the day 'Tiwesdaeg,' which in time became 'Tuesday.'"
"Did they fight only on Tuesdays?"
"Oh, go to bed."

When Traveling

Pack a length of strong twine and some toy clothespins in the grip. You will find them handy when washing the stockings, &c., in your room. A couple of glass pushpins will do to fasten the line. You can get eighteen clothespins for a nickel.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

When planning dinner menus during summer months it is always well to look ahead and provide for cold suppers and picnic luncheons. Particularly if you have a boy or girl scout in the family, you should have a supply of meat always in the icebox to make hearty sandwiches for the hikers.

KAREN HOLLIS

Roasting meats, however, is likely to be an arduous task if you have an oven that transmits heat to the kitchen, or if your kitchen is sunny and warm. Luckily, there are braised meats which are delicious when cold, and none is better in both its hot and cold states than braised beef tongue. This takes three hours to prepare, so it is best to include it on your menu only on days when jelly making or baking is going to keep you in the kitchen for a considerable time.

BRAISED TONGUE

Salt tongue weighing about three pounds
¼ cup butter
½ cup diced carrot
½ cup diced turnip
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped onion
½ stick of cinnamon
2 cloves
Bouquet of sweet herbs
Juice of one-half lemon
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

Soak the tongue for three or four hours, drain, cover with cold water and boil for two hours. Blanch in cold water and remove skin and roots. Melt the butter in a deep pan and simmer the vegetables for five minutes. Skim out the vegetables and brown the meat slightly. Put the vegetables back with the meat, add cinnamon, cloves, pepper and sweet herbs and about one quart of the stock in which the meat was cooked. Cover the kettle and simmer for one-half hour. Add lemon juice and continue cooking for one-half hour, or until tender.

Thicken the stock with corn starch moistened with water, add catsup and mustard and pour over the meat. Those who do not like the tang of mustard can substitute one-quarter cup of capers.

Modernizing the Home

Outlining a $2,000 Scheme for the Living Room

By Alma Zaiss

HERE WE SEE THAT OVERSTUFFED PIECES NEED NOT BE LARGE OR BULKY IN ORDER TO BE IMPRESSIVE—AN IMPORTANT NOTE FOR HOME-MAKERS.

Dear Miss Zaiss:

I wish you would help with a problem I have facing me. In a few months I shall have to furnish a two or three room apartment for the first time in my life. I want to concentrate my whole attention upon furnishing the living room. I shall have about $2,000 for the furniture and rug. I shall have to invest in furniture—even if it be only a few pieces at the beginning—that will last a good many years. Shall I say at this point my taste runs to antique furniture, beautiful pictures and rugs?

Will you please outline a scheme of decoration for me along the lines of what period, type and wood these pieces of furniture should be? Just what are the essential articles of furniture I should purchase at the beginning to achieve a very beautiful room.

I shall appreciate your kindness so much. I am ignorant on the subject of furniture and I am so afraid I will buy something that won't be practical or attractive. (MISS) M. G.

Here Good Reproductions May Take the Place of Antiques

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

ALTHOUGH each problem brings its own measure of enjoyment to those who assist in its solution, perhaps none proves quite so interesting as the letters from new homemakers who for the first time must go shopping for the home. So much idealism is involved in these first ventures, and success is of such vital importance that the privilege of aiding gives us the keenest pleasure.

Miss C., for example, has a budget of $2,000 to cover furnishings for her living room (as we understand it). More than the average young couple possesses. Yet if she is not very careful, her fondness for antiques may lead her into unwarranted expenditures and her room will not begin to be itself until some far distant day.

Much as we appreciate and concur in her desire for antiques—with $2,000 to spend for the equipment of a new home that is without a foundation of furniture, it seems wiser to outline a complete scheme, making use of good reproductions, than to struggle along with a few fine antiques or to compromise on pieces of doubtful value. So unless Miss C. has the collector's gift for picking up antiques at auction or in out-of-the-way places where prices are very low, we recommend the reproductions for her immediate needs, reserving antiques for the future.

Again, there is no floor plan—doubtless because the apartment has not yet been selected. And again we wish to emphasize that without an indication of the size, shape and wall spaces of the room, we can give only general recommendations which leave to Miss C. the task of juggling the suggestions to fit her personal problem.

Had she stated that her taste was for antiques of the simple, homelike type, we should have been tempted to build her living room scheme upon a colonial foundation. For charming reproductions of early American and colonial pieces, old rugs and bric-a-brac can be had at reasonable prices. But she has said that she is fond of antiques, handsome rugs and pictures . . . which seems to lead away from simple quaintness to more luxurious appointments of the English type.

It is hard to say to her . . . "No Orientals" . . . but unless one can be had at auction or at a very remarkable sale, the $2,000 budget will not allow for a fine large Oriental. Many small rugs are very difficult to handle, and a nucleus of one or two small Orientals would leave much to be desired. Therefore it seems best to compromise upon a room-size rug or all-over carpet of some rich, plain color, over which Miss C. may use one fine small rug for added color and pattern.

A good room-size rug can be cut from broad-loom carpet which comes in 12, 15 and 18-foot widths at about $6.75 a yard. In this living room a deep, rich raisin color would furnish a splendid background for English furniture as well as for draperies of linen chintz having a gold, rose-red or natural background and a floral pattern in all rich colors. The chintz may not be found in the less expensive sections but, because of its decorative value, will justify an expenditure up to $12 a yard, at which price there are a number of exquisite patterns.

Against this mass of glowing color—a picture in itself—we shall plan for the living-room furniture, starting with the high point of interest . . . a fine reproduction of a Queen Anne secretary desk in walnut. This piece will lend a fine dignity to the room, and suggests as companion pieces two graceful Queen Anne side chairs with slip seats and wooden backs. They must be good reproductions, however, these Queen Anne chairs, and it is not always easy to find them. If after reasonable search Miss C. cannot get what she wants, it would be better to use two good Hepplewhite chairs in their places. An English stool would be appropriate for the desk, and a Chippendale open-arm chair with upholstered back and seat would make a nice third chair of the occasional type.

In order to establish the character of our room we have considered first the ornamental items instead of the foundation pieces—the sofa and upholstered chairs without which no living room seems complete. All overstuffed pieces should be medium in size, for the modern apartment is not large enough to accommodate heavy pieces.

The illustration shows a very beautiful sofa and chair, which in size, line and design, would fit happily into the average living room. The low back and simple lines of the sofa are particularly good, and call for equally trim, simple lines in the overstuffed chairs, one of which may be a Tuxedo and the other a Colony Club or a modified wing chair . . . according to the space it is to occupy.

In the English room there should be one gateleg table large enough to hold a lamp and books . . . one 30x38 inches and 27 inches high would be about right for our purpose. If the sofa is placed before the fireplace, a long refectory table might look well behind it, or if the room is fairly large, such a table could be used against one wall. When the sofa is placed against a wall, as illustrated in the picture, it may welcome a pedestal end table, either octagon-shaped or round, and a little joint stool would be just the thing to use as a small end table beside one chair.

If Miss C. wants to be practical about her upholstery fabrics, she can have the sofa covered with wool damask, which is very smart and wears well. With curtains having a gold background (or a red background with much gold in the pattern) she may have the sofa in old gold, while with curtains having a natural background perhaps blue or green would be more pleasing. One over-stuffed chair should have a slip-cover of chintz like the curtains; the other may be upholstered with velvet in one of the colors represented in the chintz (blue or green if the sofa is gold, or vice versa).

For the overmantel piece a fine reproduction of a chippendale or Adam mirror would prove a charming decoration, and an old English flower painting is suggested for the space above the sofa. Lamps should be carefully selected. For the gateleg and pedestal tables Miss C. will like colorful pottery bases such as one finds among the old Persian oil jars which come in rich greens and turquoise. Lamp shades should be of simple parchment or stretched silk in soft gold tones. Standing lamps may be of wrought iron or bronze with plain parchment or skin shades. Additional pictures and objects of art will come later—one by one—and some day there should be an old English painted screen, or a reproduction of one in harmony with the room.

If these recommendations are carried out with discretion the $2,000 budget will provide for good reproductions and fabrics that Miss C. will be proud of for many years to come. Then with a foundation as substantial and as beautiful as the one outlined she may venture into the collection of antiques over a period of time, risking no long barren spots in between and—all things considered—wasting very little of her original investment. For years of service rendered plus a fair resale price will go far toward equalizing any loss incurred as the antiques gradually replace the reproductions.

What Your Baby Needs

By Emilie Hoffman

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

MOTHERS are so apt to attribute the baby's indisposition to teething and many a child has suffered a serious illness in consequence of this mistake.

There may be disturbances during the teething period but these usually last only two or three days unless the child is in delicate health, and in that case it is well to have medical treatment even in teething symptoms.

NEVER TAKE A CHANCE WITH YOUR BABY. If he is fretful and cries a great deal, is restless in his sleep, is flushed and has a fever or seems listless, consult a physician. Early treatment may avoid long illness.

Under the supposition that digestive troubles are natural with babies in hot weather, mothers allow these disturbances to continue or they may administer home treatment. The baby loses vitality and grows weaker each day, so that by the time medical help is summoned it may be too late to save the child.

Your baby may vomit, may have diarrhoea or be constipated and you realize he requires relief. Your friend's baby has had the same trouble; so the well meaning mother tells you what cured her baby and you give your child what she recommends. You do not realize it is not symptoms that the physician treats. There is a cause for all symptoms and the seat of the disturbance must be located and the disturbance must be cured by the physician; hence what cured your friend's baby may not be at all what your baby needs; so when your baby shows any disturbance whatever in health it will be safer to send for the physician at once.

If there is a digestive disturbance you might dilute the milk to half the usual strength, or to an older baby who takes solid food give only liquid food. It may be necessary to stop all food and give only barley water or plain water. If the infant seems feverish take the temperature but give no medicine until you receive instructions from the doctor to do so.

Having consulted a physician, follow his directions implicitly. If, for instance, your doctor orders hot, dry applications and some one else's baby had exactly the same symptoms and the doctor ordered hot lotions, and the mother asserts it was that which saved the life of her baby, pay no heed to this some one else. Consult a physician in whom you have absolute confidence and leave the fate of your baby in his hands. Do not handicap him in his efforts to save your baby.

Hot weather is a serious period for the babies and what every baby needs most of all is a sensible mother who makes her baby's health and welfare her first thought and who will make every effort to save the child she has brought into the world. If every mother did that, the infant mortality records would show a marked decrease in numbers during July and August.

THE BABE ENTERS BUSINESS

AN interview with Babe Ruth, the business man:

"Mr. Ruth, I understand you are going to open a men's hat store in the fall."

"Yeah, that's right. I am also going to sell neckties, collars, suspenders, silk mufflers, underwear, bathrobes, pajamas, socks, handkerchiefs and how are you fixed for shirts?"

"Every one is surprised you are entering the haberdashery trade as an avocation, Mr. Ruth."

"Well, up to now writing has been my side line. But with guys like Coolidge, Eddie Cantor, Charley Paddock, Chic Sale and the rest busting into writing too, I decided competition was getting too tough."

"Did you pick out the haberdashery business because it appealed to you?"

"Well, no. Personally, I'd rather run a restaurant. But the little wife was afraid I'd eat up all the profits."

* * *

"What led you to hit upon the hat store idea?"

"Well, you see, I've been playing right field for more than a dozen years. And every Sept. 15, when I looked into the bleachers and saw all those straws being smashed, I figured it must be a great racket where you don't even have to wait for the customers to wear out the goods."

"Will you wait on your patrons personally, Mr. Ruth?"

"Yeah. Except when I'm out for my meals."

"And do you think you will be a success?"

"I can't help it. After judging when to swing a bat down to one-twentieth of a second, it will be a cinch for me to tell whether a customer wears a 6⅞ or a size 7 hat."

* * *

"You think your baseball experience will help you then?"

"No doubt of it. I've already learned the customer is always right—the same as the umpire."

"In what other way do you think your baseball background will aid you?"

"Think of the timing! I sell a customer a collar button, for instance. And just as I'm wrapping it up I swing the conversation quickly and get him interested in a fancy vest. After he's bit on that one, I've got him in a hole. He'll have to buy a pair of spats and a walking stick from me to go with the vest."

"And that's what you call timing, Mr. Ruth?"

"Well, in some circles they call it two-timing."

* * *

"I understand you will autograph all articles you sell."

"Absolutely—except black sox. I'd have to autograph those with a whitewash brush."

"What will be the feature of your haberdashery stock?"

"Color! That's what the sport-writers say made me a millionaire!"

"Do you intend to operate a chain of Babe Ruth men's stores?"

"Well, my Broadway shop will be my first base. But if I get a safe lead on my creditors I may stretch it out to two or three shops."

"Will your haberdasheries be your principal business or a side line?"

"Neither. They will be a threat. If Ruppert don't kick in with $80,000 a year on my next contract, I'll tell him I can make more behind the necktie counter than playing right field."

"What do you think is the trouble with business at present, Mr. Ruth?"

"The same trouble we're having with baseballs is the trouble with checks. There's too much rubber in them."

THIS AND THAT

Incoming heroes should be routed through some other New York street than Lower Broadway if America is to avert another white paper shortage.

Mr. Coolidge has been writing a column for a week and he hasn't used a Ford gag yet.

"You will never set the world on fire," said the father as he presented the boy graduate with a pocket lighter.

Sharkey and Schmeling won't meet again this September, which gives the fight customers a break at last.

"5 and 10 Law Reduced."—Headline.
The chain store influence.

If the teams that lead the league on the Fourth of July win the pennants, as superstition has it, the Giants may as well quit playing and take up ukulele lessons and the Yanks can let Babe Ruth open that hat shop right away.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

NO HOPE FOR IMMEDIATE MOONEY CASE SETTLEMENT

California primary in August.

"This is a much bigger thing than just a quick half hour hearing, asking a few questions.

"I will call many people. I will call all the other witnesses (who testified against Billings in 1916 and against Mooney in 1917), who are available. The case is thrown wide open again.

Get Whole Truth

"I don't want to do anything prejudicial, but I do want to get all the right facts. It would be hard to have an extended hearing now. I haven't thought out exxactly what to do. I don't know the wishes of the supreme court (which must rule favorably in the Billings case before the governor may pardon him), and naturally they want to question him (MacDonald), too.

"I feel that now if ever is the opportunity to get the whole truth of these cases.

"The hearing by the supreme court and myself might be held simultaneously. I don't know."

The supreme court is involved in the case due to a provision of the California constitution that the court must recommend pardons for all men previously convicted, as was Billings.

Governor Tired

The governor was tired and he talked slowly. He paused a moment during the interview, and then said:

"I have no right to ask MacDonald a thing."

Questioned in connection with the coming primary in which the governor is seeking the republican nomination, he said:

"As to holding a hearing now and reserving decision until after election — that would look cowardly on my part.

Bring MacDonald

"I haven't thought out just what I ought to say in answer to a telegram from MacDonald that he is ready and willing to return to California.

"I have to find some way. I am going to see if there isn't some law by which I can bring MacDonald out here.

"I haven't decided yet the date of the hearing, but there will be one, and if I were Mooney and Billings, I would want the most complete hearing possible."

MACDONALD TO BE TAKEN TO COAST

BALTIMORE, Md., July 14.—UP—John MacDonald was a free man tonight, ready to go to California in an effort to liberate Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings —but just when he will go and under whose auspices has developed into quite a question.

Shortly after the key witness in the famous case was released from police custody today, dispatches were received from California in which Governor C. C. Young announced he would not grant MacDonald a hearing until after the August 26 primary election. MacDonald wants to tell Young and the state supreme court that he lied when he testified he saw two men at the scene of the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness parade explosion.

This news came somewhat as a surprise to his youthful lawyers, Charles Ruzicka, and Hilary Gans, who were planning to take MacDonald to the coast within a week or ten days after preparation of their case here. After an all day conference in their office with the decrepit MacDonald in an outer room, they dispatched a telegram to the governor telling him they were ready to take the witness to the coast, and asking him to set a date for the hearing. They thus placed the matter very squarely before Young.

Can't Wait.

When confronted with Young's announcement, Ruzicka said:

"I can't wait until August 26 for any client. I have business here."

He said he did not know if he would go to California or not, and would not know until after Young had replied to their telegram, which he declined to make public here. Asked, then, if he would withdraw from the case if it were proposed as Young announced, he merely repeated that he could not afford to wait that long.

On top of these developments came word from California that the Mooney Defense committee was ready to take MacDonald to California immediately to appear before the governor. Frank P. Walsh, New York attorney has been representing Mooney personally in the MacDonald case here, and has co-operated with Ruzicka and Gans to this end.

Plans Made

Walsh, when reached in New York by the United Press, said he did not know anything about the defense committee's new move, as he was representing Mooney personally. The New York lawyer is expected back here later. He planned to go to California, but probably in advance of MacDonald.

There has been a disposition to let the two young lawyers, members of an old established firm here, proceed in their own way with plans for MacDonald's appearance in California to repudiate the testimony he gave at the four trials. They are preparing to put a large staff to work here in the case, in an effort to gather their data quickly. They say they are ready to go to California and placed the matter before Young tonight. It is now up to him as far as they are concerned.

Meanwhile MacDonald, the slender reed of a man upon whom so much depends in the new move to free the two California labor leaders, will remain in seclusion here at the fashionable apartment where he formerly worked seven nights a week as a telephone operator, and where Ruzicka resides.

Felt "All Right"

He sat in front of a long window in the office of his attorneys nearly all day today, following his release, staring out at the city below. At his side was Edward J. Nickels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who found MacDonald working as a waiter in Trenton, N. J. in 1921, and with Walsh, secured the first affidavit repudiating his testimony.

Looking up, with a wan smile on his face, MacDonald said he felt "all right" today, but he appears very feeble. A very close guard is being kept upon him and newspapermen are not permitted to talk to him. He is expected to drop from sight from now until he goes to the coast.

Now Is Free

MacDonald was released without qualification today upon the order of Judge Walter I. Dawkins of Baltimore circuit court. The judge pointed out that he had not been indicted in California, and there was no reason to hold him. Gans told the court he wanted it made clear that MacDonald's release was unqualified and that the witness was bound in no way to go to California by anything state's attorney Herbert R. O'Conor here had said, or Governor C. C. Young had intimated. In referring to Young's attitude, he pointed out it was "highly unusual" for the governor of a state to participate in the turning over of a state's witness to a defense lawyer.

In this he referred to the indication Saturday night that MacDonald would be taken in charge by Frank P. Walsh.

Thus, the missing witness was again made a free man.

Man Walks Out Of Court Hearing

LEGGE OUSTER DEMANDED BY PUBLISHER

WICHITA, Kans., July 14.—UP—A request that congress be asked to investigate activities of Chairman Alexander Legge of the Federal Farm Board and a demand that he be asked to resign was contained in a telegram sent late today to Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas by the publishers of the Wichita Beacon.

The telegram was the outgrowth of militant exchanges between Max and Louis Levand, Beacon publishers, and Legge during the latter's campaign for reduction of southwestern wheat production.

Legge told a Kansas audience that the state's boast of "growing the most wheat in the world" was that of "a hog in the trough."

The Beacon publishers took affront at the remark as an insult to the state, demanding Legge's retirement. The Farm Board chairman invited them to 'go to Hell."

The telegram today was the third request for Legge's retirement by the Levands and followed a public letter published Saturday in which President Hoover was asked to examine the matter.

The Levands said they felt Legge had not offered one helpful suggestion to relieve the wheat farmer. They asserted his sole plan was that the wheat grower can be relieved only by ceasing to grow wheat, Kansas' major crop.
